

Introduction: At the tender age of 21 Jason Creek has accomplished a lot in his short career. From playing on main stages at festivals alongside the likes of Armin Van Buuren and Above & Beyond, to playing at world renowned club events such as Godskitchen, Jason has become one of the prominent figures in Australian dance music. Recently voted Perth's Best Trance DJ for a second year in a row, Jason has since gone on to play at Ministry of Sound in London, appear on every major festival lineup for 2010, and support some of the biggest names in dance music .

Perth Dance Music Awards: For two years in a row, Jason has been voted Perth's Best Trance DJ in the Perth Dance Music Awards. Since winning the award for a second time Jason has gone on to become one of the most in demand DJ's in Western Australia. Not only was Jason voted the number one trance DJ, but he was also recognised in the top three Best Progressive DJ categories as well.

The Jason Creek Podcast: At the beginning of 2010 Jason launched his online radio show - The Jason Creek Podcast. The show, which is available from the iTunes Music Store as well as jasoncreek.net, has already seen huge success with thousands of listeners tuning in each month from over 20 countries worldwide.

Performances: Jason's unique blend of melodic trance with other electronic genres including progressive house and techno has allowed him to play at some of Australia's best venues and events on a regular basis. Below are just some of Jason's performances from the past twelve months:

- Opening the Main Stage at Summadayze 2011 before Armin Van Buuren, David Guetta and more.
- Playing a peak hour set at the world famous Ministry of Sound in London, performing alongside The Thrillseekers, Rank1 and Marcus Schussow.
- Appearances at multiple Godskitchen club shows, appearing alongside Markus Schulz, Gareth Emery, Andy Moor, John O'Callaghan and many more.
- Opening the Anjunabeats stage at Future Music Festival 2010 alongside Above & Beyond, Super8 & Tab, and other Anjunabeats artists.
- In addition to these shows, Jason has played at world renowned festivals such as Summadayze and Parklife, as well as playing regularly at Australia's number one club, Metro City.

Trance-Lation: In addition to the launch of his radio show, 2010 also saw Jason debut his monthly publication feature Trance-Lation for Xpress Magazine; Australia's highest circulating street publication. With exclusive information regarding upcoming events, tracks, and more, it has been well received by readers.

Production: Having recently moved into a new production studio, Jason has been busy producing tracks that have seen regular inclusion to his dynamic sets. Currently working on several tracks, it's only a matter of time until we see Jason's tracks being played internationally on a regular basis.
